Making the Right Choice: The Applicant Selection Process

Finding good members can seem like it is the luck of the draw for your co-op. In reality, it is a process that requires some planning and a good deal of compliance. Ensure your co-op's applicant selection process is both rigorous and fair with this informative workshop session.

This workshop covers the following:

- overview of co-op principles
- the membership interviewing process
- active listening skills
- member selection – federal program co-ops
- background checks, references and human rights legislation
- diversity and inclusion considerations in a co-op setting
- co-op membership rights and responsibilities
- best practices for new member orientation
